This is not a

but straight Hardware talk. You may think you'll not read it, but you will. The beauty of business is to do business in a business-like way—keep a good clean dollar-getting stock, sell at reasonable prices, treat customers politely, and rake in the cash when it comes your way. Its time of year to get in out of the cold—hover over the fire—and the need of the hour is

HEATING STOVES.

I have some solid comforts in the old reliable "ROUND OAK," which needs no song of praise to sound its worth. The GARLAND—closing grate, latest improved; highly ornamental and nicely trimmed in nickel—a beauty. Detroit Stove Co's WOOD BASE BURNER, a late pattern—handsome, well made—a regular earth-warmer.

COOKING STOVES.

I have a complete line of best makes and latest styles. But don't come here to buy a cheap stove. I don't keep them. They don't suit my patrons. None but the best for me.

CUTLERY.

Let me jog your memory to the fact that I have the finest line of AMERICAN CUTLERY in this county—which includes the best makes of Razors—Pocket Knives for a regiment of whittlers, etc.

The serene and painless death of England's poet-laureate in that moonlight chamber with dear ones close at hand and his finger marking a passage in a favorite volume of Shakespeare, was as calm and peaceful as the poetry which immortalizes his name.

The death of Peter Harwick on the 4th instant was not reported to us in time for last week's paper. Mrs. Lucy Whelan of Brockport, N. Y., an aunt of A. T. Anderson, has been visiting here and was last Thursday summoned home by a telegram announcing the sudden death of her mother at Leroy, N. Y. Mr. Anderson's father had started the Tuesday before for a visit to this aged mother and was shocked on his arrival to find her gone beyond "that bourne whence no traveller e'er returns."

A pleasant little surprise was perpetrated upon Mrs. T. R. Harrison last Saturday evening, on the occasion of her 66th birthday. Her sister Mrs. Eggleston, who is visiting here, was the chief conspirator, and about thirty friends and neighbors assisted in making a merry time and in disposing of the peaches and cream and other dainties that were served. Some tokens of love from the children serve as mementoes of this pleasant episode.

Just 400 people listened to the wonderful word-painting of Dr. Gunsaulus at the Christian church Monday evening and all, so far as we have heard, seem to be of one opinion and declare that, as an orator, Gunsaulus excels any one ever yet heard in Paw Paw. The spell of his eloquence wreathed the dry, historic facts with poetic garlands and made the heroes of centuries ago to live and breathe again, while his magnificent physique and oratorical skill accentuated every eloquent period. That a lecture of such high intellectual order was so thoroughly appreciated, speaks well for the intelligence of our townspeople; and other evidence of the wholesome influence radiating from these Lecture Courses is given by the various young lads who have invested some of their summer's earnings in a season ticket.

While Mr. Rowland is mousing around the board of supervisors for the purpose of gathering in any little odd jobs of printing there may be lying around loose, we would suggest that he edify the board by reading to them an article headed "Minus the Jewels," printed in his paper of July 28th. Sort o' keep the board in good humor as it were.

Chip Hincley, a son of Henry Hincley, met with a very severe accident last week. He has been employed on one of the worst halls at the Kalamazoo insane asylum and was suddenly attacked by a very strong and violent patient who not only inflicted a scalp wound with some sharp instrument, but also kicked him so viciously as to produce a rupture which the physicians were unable to reduce. The young man was immediately sent to Ann Arbor for treatment, and will be exceedingly lucky, if he ever entirely recovers from the mad-man's savage onslaught.

Will Phillips, living three miles west of town, met with a disaster on Sunday night in the burning of his barn containing from 80 to 100 tons of hay. Hearing a horse thrashing about in the barn, Mr. Phillips went out with a lantern and chanced to enter on the blind side of the horse, when the latter gave a kick that sent the lantern into the hay, igniting it so thoroughly that it was only by great effort that the horses and cattle, of which there were a number, could be rescued. The barn was an unusually fine one built but two years ago to replace one also destroyed by fire, and the $1700 insurance on the building and contents will fall far short of the loss.

A family by the name of Surdam living near Mattawan, composed of father, son, and wife of the latter, has never been quoted as living in a manner that in any way foreshadowed the millennium, and Saturday night there came a tragical ending to the life of Mrs. Surdam. On Friday evening she returned from a neighbor's and commenced acting very strangely, breaking off the limbs of peach trees, pulling up grape vines, and announcing her determination to sleep out of doors. However, she at length went to bed in the house and towards morning was taken with severe vomiting. Dr. Dunning being summoned, found indications of Paris Green, but it was too late for any antidote to save her life and before the next morning the unhappy woman was a corpse. On Sunday, Justice Mason, accompanied by Messrs. Titus, Thomas, Sirrine, Chapin, and Dunning drove to the Surdam home, but the evidences that she took poison with suicidal intent were so numerous, that it was not thought necessary to hold an inquest. The deceased has twice before attempted suicide, once by poison and once by drowning.

An Unexpected Trip.

T. J. Cavanaugh of Paw Paw being the legal counsellor of Chas. Hudson of Alpena, was last Friday requested to proceed to Allegan and secure a horse on which Mr. Hudson held a nearly expired chattel mortgage.

Thereupon, taking deputy sheriff Sirrine along for company, Mr. Cavanaugh journeyed to Allegan and found the horse in the possession of the very man who gave said mortgage. Having obtained a certified copy of it given by the township clerk of Allegan and bearing the signature of both the man and his wife, our young Paw Paw apostle of Blackstone, with the aid of the strong arm of the law and the persuasive powers of Mr. Sirrine, succeeded in bringing the contested piece of horse-flesh back to the sheltering arms of farmer Hudson. When lo! on Saturday a stern messenger of the law arrived from Allegan and bore these two respected citizens from our midst, having arrested them as common horse thieves. Of course the necessary bonds were immediately forthcoming on their arrival in Allegan, though the horse did not go with them, and nightfall saw them once more in their accustomed places, looking none the worse for their enforced journey and feeling not the least apprehensive over the ultimate outcome; but it was a good joke on our townspeople and they've had to "set em up" more than once in consequence.
